Read-only audit · October 5, 2026 · byronwall/explorEDA

Revision: 362db58082df9c1b57c2305a49823a1dae385081

Fresh application browser tests: 0 completed; navigation blocked by administrator policy.

Evidence classes and reading limits

This audit used five different kinds of evidence and does not collapse them. Direct source reads establish implementation structure; repository documents describe claimed behavior; repository-authored browser reports supply historical claims; independent Python comparisons establish data oracles; actual browser probes establish only environment blocking. No class substitutes for current application-browser proof.

Pinned links below refer to the reviewed commit unless a PR or Actions URL is naturally a separate resource. Sources with partial reads or targeted searches explicitly say so. Every transcript was read in full. Not every implementation file or test in the repository was reviewed, and no full-source local build was performed.

Local evidence files evidence/browser-navigation-results.json and B01-B03 screenshots are actual browser outputs. evidence/artifact-provenance.json records the downloaded build's identity and hashes; evidence/deployment-build.zip preserves that exact download. data/independent-data-oracles.json records independent CSV counts and source positions. fixtures/ contains newly authored synthetic acceptance inputs. data/coverage-*.json is a transcription/recount of the reviewed manifest, not an app-generated state export.

The utilities in browser/ and data/ support reproduction but do not constitute completed exploratory application testing. Their output/result labels preserve that distinction.

Source labels link to the identified repository files or PR/run records. Full source locators and reading scope are in Report 06.
